++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Largely dry and cold.

Today:
A frosty start, with icy patches in the east. A dry day in the east too, with a few sunny spells. Cloudier further west with patchy drizzle developing. Still rather cold, but turning milder in the far west. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Tonight:
Mostly dry with occasional clear intervals. However, an isolated light shower is possible in the north and west and turning more widely cloudy and breezy later. Milder than of late. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Tuesday:
Remaining windy and rather cloudy through Tuesday. Further patchy light rain or drizzle at times. Heavier and more persistent rain arriving in the evening. Feeling milder than recent days. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Blustery and showery on Wednesday, and turning colder. Brighter on Thursday, before a band of rain and possible hill snow sweeps through overnight into Friday, accompanied by further strong winds.
